

CANADA WATER MASTERPLAN

Are you free this summer to help us shape Canada Water's future?

Our summer internship offers an opportunity for a young person to gain professional work experience within Shoreditch-based Soundings in-house creative engagement team and ecology charity Global Generation.

The team is multi-disciplinary and collaborative, which means that the successful applicant will have a chance to learn about community engagement but also planning, urban design, architecture, graphic design, gardening and making.

You will help the Soundings team to co-develop an engagement toolkit to gather young peoples' views and ideas at a number of summer-events, as well as making links with other local organisations.

You will also help the team designing and running the activities, as well as analysing feedback and reporting to the Masterplan team including the architects and the developer British Land.

Finally you will work with Global Generation as well, supporting community activities and events that aim to creatively involve young people in the co-creation of public spaces. This includes the 'Paper Garden' at the SE16 Printworks.
